Crown Employees Grievance Settlement Board

ANNUAL REPORT

2007-2008

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

Over the past fiscal year, the Board has continued to work with the parties that it serves to provide the best possible dispute resolution services. Mediation continued to play a large role in dispute resolution at the Grievance Settlement Board, with the vast majority of the grievances filed being resolved by mediation. The Board continues to benefit from the services of extremely talented labour relations neutrals, all of whom provide their services on a part-time basis, while practicing in the private sector and for a number of our Vice-Chairs, teaching at the university level.

The Board has continued to work proactively with the Ministry of Community Safety and Correctional Services (MCSCS) and the Ontario Public Service Employees Union (OPSEU) to reduce disputes and provide expedited dispute resolution in correctional facilities. Amendments to the existing dispute resolution protocol were made and educational sessions involving local union and local management representatives continued.

As part of its mandate, the Board works to promote productive relationships and towards that end convened a conference held in January 2008. The full day conference, "Partners in Public Service" attracted over 200 attendees. It was developed in conjunction with representatives of the parties and had as the keynote speaker, Chief Justice Warren Winkler, who spoke on the topic of "Making Partnerships Work". In addition, there was an interactive session on resolving disputes at arbitration, a presentation on psychological harassment and bullying, a Vice-Chair panel on effective advocacy, and a session on challenges and opportunities in OPS labour relations. In addition, our luncheon speaker, a prominent academic in the field of public sector labour relations, provided us with details of a large scale mediation project undertaken in the U.S. postal service.

The Board continued to benefit from the talent and dedication of our six person staff, which once again rose to the challenges of the Board with courtesy, efficiency and innovation, ensuring that the best possible service continued to be provided to the parties that we serve.

1. GSB MANDATE

The Grievance Settlement Board (the "Board") was established by section 20 of the Crown Employees Collective Bargaining Act, 1972, S.O. 1972, c.67 and is continued by section 46 of the Crown Employees Collective Bargaining Act, 1993, S.O. 1993, c.3 8, as amended by S.O. 1995, c. I (CECBA).

The Board exercises the powers and performs the duties conferred upon it by the CECBA. Subsection 7(3) of the CECBA provides that:

> 7. (3) Every collective agreement relating to Crown employees shall be deemed to provide for the final and binding settlement by arbitration by the Grievance Settlement Board, without stoppage of work, of all differences between the parties arising from the interpretation, application, administration or alleged violation of the agreement including any question as to whether a matter is arbitrable. 1993, c.38, s.7 (3).

The Crown Employees' Grievance Settlement Board (GSB) is funded as a budget item of the Ministry of Labour. All costs directly related to dispute resolution are allocated to the parties and are recovered from them. The GSB staff provides services to the Public Service Grievance Board (PSGB). The PSGB adjudicates grievances filed by management/excluded Crown employees under Part V of Regulation 977 to the Public Service Act. Expenditures made on behalf of the PSGB are recovered and refunded to the GSB.

The Chair of the Grievance Settlement Board is a part-time salaried position appointed by Order-in-Council. The Registrar of the GSB is the most senior full-time civil servant at the GSB and reports to the Chair. The Registrar is directly responsible for all administrative matters. The Chair and the Registrar are jointly responsible for policy matters.

The GSB has entered into partnership agreements with its client group to fully implement the requirements of the Crown Employees Collective Bargaining Act. The partnership agreement provides for a Governance Council (see page 19). As a result of the partnership agreement, some of the governance is determined by decisions made and minuted at the Governance Committee meetings, resulting in accountability to the client group with respect to some GSB administration and policy issues.

The Grievance Settlement Board is an adjudicative agency and is viewed by its clientele to have independence and neutrality. The GSB's independence is preserved by its physical location, separate from government agencies other than the PSGB and by virtue of the fact that the GSB uses adjudicators who are prominent and well respected in the private sector labour relations community.

The obligation of the Board is to provide dispute resolution services and work with the parties to improve labour relations within the Ontario Public Service. The Board provides timely, concise decisions resulting in consistent advice and guidance to the parties in the settlement of specific disputes.
